Guideline for Health Worker Registration on the EVDS Self-Registration System

The National Department of Health is developing the Electronic Vaccine Data System (EVDS) to be the data system used for the administering of COVID-19 vaccines in the private and public sector. One of the components of this is an online system where health workers can register themselves for the vaccine. This guideline will take you through the process to register as a health worker using the EVDS Self-Registration system. It is important to note that at this point, registration is only open to health workers. The entire process takes approximately 2 minutes to complete.

You can access the registration site at <https://vaccine.enroll.health.gov.za>

This will take you to the landing page below.

- Self-registration is available to all public, private, clinical and non-clinical healthcare workers
- Vaccination and self-registration on the EVDS is voluntary
- Self-Registration DOES NOT guarantee you will be vaccinated in this Phase
- Eligibility of the vaccinee will be determined by the NDOH based on priority population groups
